Fifth Year Vol. 5
Newsletter 17

Summer 1990

Dear Smurf Collector:

First, WELCOME BACK to all renewing Members for our fifth year of Smurf Club publications. So many of you are old friends since we've gotten to know you through your letters. A warm welcome, also, to all new members who have come on board for Year Five. Your interest and enthusiasm is truly astonishing!

We usually open our Newsletters with news on the up-beat but, at this time, we have dismal news to report. You have probably already heard: NBC's President, Brandon Tartikoff, and Phyllis Vinson, NBC's Vice President of childrens' programming, have announced that the Saturday morning line-up for the fall season will not include the Smurf cartoon. A more complete explanation of programming strategy is included in this issue.

The next news we have to share was, originally, exciting news but, with the cartoon being cancelled, it remains to be seen what will eventually occur.

Smurfs will be relaunched to a new generation

WOODLAND HILLS, CALIF. — Applause Licensing is relaunching the Smurfs in 1990 to a new generation.

The major focus of the relaunch will be the Smurflings — miniature, childlike versions of the Smurfs.

Standing just two apples tall, the Smurflings are popular TV characters who offer new merchandising opportunities, according to Applause.

The Smurfs have been licensed internationally for more than 30 years and, between 1980 and 1984, Smurf merchandise accounted for more than $500 million at wholesale.

The Smurf Saturday morning TV show is now in its ninth year in syndication.

New merchandise featuring the Smurfling characters will come in brightly colored, bold prints.

The items will be targeted at two- to eight-year-olds.

Licensed Smurfling products reaching market this year will include a wide array of products.

When and if this relaunching occurs, it may be of a very limited nature. Therefore, we ask all members, in every corner of the U.S.A., to keep us posted on any and all Smurf items that you happen to locate in your area! If a test market is used, this will prove to be very important to our members. Some states may not have items that other states will have. Let's keep our eyes open!! Let the Club know what you locate!! Sharing is Caring!!!

We are supplying each of you with a copy of "The Smurfs...A Historical Perspective." This was provided for our information, by Applause. We all hope that 1990 will be added to this!!!

We are also enclosing, with this issue, background information on the famous voices of the Smurf Cartoon characters.

We feel it is the right time to publish these two pieces of material; let's indulge in a little NOSTALGIA!

A new line of screenprints from Changes and new plush, PVC and puppets from Applause Gift.

Additional product lines will be released in September from such licensees as Gerber/Bates, Springs, Bibb, PCA, Changes, Union, BBC and Mayfair/Pilgrim.

Products will be available throughout the year from General Foods, Arjon, Anagram, Kings Entertainment, Viewmaster, Collegeville Flag, Franco, American Home Foods, Harley, Halsey Taylor Thermos, Union Underwear and Venus Old Brussels.

The relaunch will be supported by a variety of efforts, including a national public relations campaign, mall tour, theme park shows and a fast-food promotion.

Hopefully, you all watched the April 21, 1990, airing of the "Cartoon All-Stars to the Rescue." We have received reviews from all over the country, and Canada, and they have all given it a four-star rating. We are enclosing one of the reviews in this issue for your scrapbooks.

This show was written by Hanna-Barbera animators Swayne Pole and Tom Swale. The show took nearly two years to produce and one million dollars in production costs. We have also learned that the script was sent back for "countless" revisions in order to satisfy all the studios concerned with how their cartoon characters were being portrayed. Each creator wanted to ensure that their character was true to it's old, familiar, self. Technical problems also had to be overcome as it was incredibly difficult to mix Bugs Bunny with the Smurfs in the same frame! The voice of "Smoke" was none other than George C. Scott!

Now, from the European Front! We have been notified that there is a new Smurf magazine (see announcement in this issue). This publication is only available in the French language in France. The Club has made arrangements to receive this publication and we would like to share it from time-to-time with you, our Members. We U R G E N T L Y need someone to translate from French to English for the Club. If anyone cares to volunteer, please write to us at Club Headquarters.

We regret to disclose the fact that the Club's Limited Edition Smurf Figurine produced exclusively for Club Members, "1990 Celebration Smurf," was S O L D   O U T in just a few short weeks. We are sorry so many renewing members and new members were unable to have the opportunity to purchase this exciting figurine. We have contacted Schleich in West Germany about this major dilemma. We are hoping to have an alternate offering for all members who have been, and will be, disappointed in this our fifth year. We will keep you posted.

We are enclosing, with this issue a new page showing the 1990 New Generation Figurines. Use this page to bring your 1989 Club Brochure up-to date.

The figurines are:

#20406 Nanny's Pal, Smoogle
#20407 Wild's Pal, Chitter
#20408 Nanny
#20409 Marching Smurf with Flag
and
"1990 Celebration Smurf"

Technically, we find no major objections to these four new figurines. One minor "flaw" noted is that the inside of Smoogle's ears are not painted pink as the inside of his paws are. We have also heard a number of complaints stating that Nanny should be holding a knitting bag as she appears in the cartoon. Schleich informs us that they had major technical problems with this so we have an empty-handed Nanny, unfortunately.

The four new figurines appearing with black paint dots were painted in Tunisia!!! Smoogle is injected in pink and only his details are painted. Chitter is injected in grey and only his details and acorn are painted (Are they "boys" or "girls" ? Does anyone know?).

Re #20409: The flag this figurine is holding represents the "Council of Europe." Has anyone noticed the "C E" marking on the back of the arm of this figurine? Another first!!!!

The "Council of Europe" is an international organization of 21 countries, much like our United Nations in the U.S.A. The council seeks to promote closer unity among it's members in order to achieve economic and social progress. It concentrates on the political organization of Europe. Members are Austria, Belgium, Cyprus, Denmark, France, Great Britain, Greece, Ireland, Italy, Liechtenstein, Luxembourg, Malta, The Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey, and West Germany. The council was established in 1949.

Was this figurine commissioned by the Council? Is it a promotional figurine? Will it be produced as a limited edition? These are the questions we are attempting to get answered.

All four new figurines are available from the Club at the moment.

On the back of the Club Brochure's new page, we have Schleich's announcement and listing of the figurines that they will be producing for 1990.

" O N E --H U N D R E D Smurfs on the Go for the N E W   D E C A D E !!!!!!"

Only one-hundred; we wonder how the lucky one-hundred designs were chosen to remain on the list. Perhaps they represent all the best-sellers, but many of OUR favorites have been discontinued!

From the Editor and Co. Editors Desk.....

We intend to continue publishing what we hope are interesting, informative, and diversified Newsletters. We aim to please and we are doing our best to keep our Club Members well-informed and entertained. In order to accomplish this we must hear from YOU! Any and all suggestions for future Smurf topics will be gratefully accepted; please let us know what you want to know! Are there specific subjects we have neglected to cover to your satisfaction? What type of articles and special features have given you the most enjoyment? Our Newsletters are a team effort; together we can make year five come alive!!!!!!

Suzanne & Susan

A MAJOR COLLECTING FIRST

In Newsletter No. 5, we took you through Schleich's Smurf figurine manufacturing process. From step one, the artists' sketch of the figurine, through step six, the hand-painting process.

Now we have another " F I R S T " for our S.C.C.I. Members!!!

This quarter, the Auction Block features Smurf figurines released E X C L U S I V E L Y to the Club from Schleich's P A I N T   S H O P.

All of the fascinating figurines offered are actually P A I N T   S A M P L E S ! ! ! ! That's correct, SAMPLES!

These figurines were NEVER produced for sale in these unusual (to say the least) color variations. Different colors were, apparently, tried out, found unsatisfactory, and never produced. These test-runs of colors were necessary to achieve just the right shades and/or combinations.

Collectors Comments.....

Dear S.C.C.I.;

In the last Newsletter, the Club showed two versions of #20034 Smurfette; the Bully version and the Schleich version. In checking through my collection, I find a third version that you did not mention. I am sending this figurine to the Club for your first-hand inspection. Can you tell me anything about her?

Roland from W. Germany

Dear Roland:

Thank you for sharing this information with the Club. We regret to inform you that your figurine is one of the infamous European "Pirated" Smurfs.

We consider this European counterfeit Smurf to be one of the better counterfeit Smurfs ever produced. Here are some pointers to look for:

1. Note that the P.V.C. is a harder substance than that used for a legitimate Schleich or Bully figurine.
2. Note that this figurine is Not 2" tall.
3. Note that her facial features and hair are not sculpted (formed) as on a "Peyo," technically correct, figurine.
4. A Smurfette figurine of this nature, in her usual dress and not a theme costume, should be wearing a shoe with a high heel. This figurine has flat-heeled shoes.
5. Last but not least, although the paint is good, no one can quite paint a figurine with the clarity, texture, etc., that Schleich painters can achieve.

Be glad you have your Pirated Smurfette; so long as you understand exactly what it is, it is an interesting item to keep as she was produced with a completely different mold and good for future reference.

COLLECTORS Comments.....

Dear Suzanne;

I have found the Club's portfolio of articles, "The Smurfs A Legend in Their Own Time," to be tremendously educational; it has been a marvelous aid to me in my collecting endeavors.

I am not a world traveler but, from time-to-time, some of my family members and friends do embark on world travels.

I read an article in the Portfolio that mentions the fact that Smurfs are available in some 56 countries world-wide.

Does the Club know all of these countries?

Carol Z. from Wisc.

Dear Carol;

Yes, we do have a list of the countries of the world in which Smurfs and Smurf Products were/are available (To the best of our Knowledge.) This list is available to all members interested in receiving same. Send your request to the Club along with a S.A.S.E.

Dear Suzanne;

I am one of your "cross-over" collectible members. My main collecting interest is Pez items from around the world.

I would like to re-confirm for your Club members, (Newsletter 16) that "ALL PEZ DISPENSERS HAVE BEEN BANNED THROUGHOUT EUROPE."

I would also like to share with your members a very exciting find I came across:

This goes back to when the Smurf Pez had just come out. I was checking my local shops to see what had come in when my son, who has a photographic memory of which Pez I have (including the character and the dispenser body color), told me he found a new dispenser. We looked at it and couldn't figure out what character from the Smurfs it could possibly be. It finally dawned on me it was a Smurf who had made it through packaging and was put on a sales rack without blue paint on it's face. He's in a bubble card and is very different looking.

Your Club was very highly recommended to us and now I know why. You publish an excellent Newsletter!! Good Luck in your fifth year and keep up the good work. I will be telling all my friends about the S.C.C.I.

Karen from Or.

Dear S.C.C.I.;

I just returned from a visit to my local library. I was wondering about the fact that you never told us that the Smurf Collectors' Club International is listed in the "ENCYCLOPEDIA OF ASSOCIATIONS." I consider this a MAJOR step in the recognition of the Club and Smurf collecting. I use this Encyclopedia very often and I know it is widely used throughout the world. Congratulations!

Sandra From NE.

Sorry, it's an oversight on our behalf not to have mentioned this to our members. We have been listed in three editions: 1988, 1989, and 1990.

Ohio Toy Fair

by Michael Ryan

One category that appeared to be "hot" this year and a good prospect for the new decade was hand-painted rubber figures. These toys are comic and cartoon oriented. The kids like playing with their favorite fiction character, but the manufacturers don't always produce enough to meet demands. After all, these toys are hand painted versus production line. In addition, from time to time, the manufacturers will drop a figure out of production, which in turn sets off a demand for that particular figure. For example, Dino was dropped from the Flint-stone set. Some of the most popular figures are Tom and Jerry, Flintstones, Disney, Marvel Comic characters, Ewoks and the Smurfs.

COLLECTORS COMMENTS.....

Dear S.C.C.I.:

Can you tell me how to tell the difference between #20028 Gardener Smurf and the Gardener figurine belonging to Super Smurf #40206?

Hannah from Pa.

Dear Hannah:

The Gardener Smurf figurine was made with two different molds! The #20028 figurine is the larger version with full face, and both feet flat.

The figurine belonging to #40206 is smaller with thinner face, and his right toe is up turned.

#20028 Gardener on Right.

Dear Suzanne:

How does one go about having a "variation" verified? I have had this little guy since last fall and recently noticed he is different. Notice the plastic collar. It is not attached, simply slipped around his neck. I have not tried to remove it, although it is flexible and could be removed. On the bottom of his left foot is "PEYO" with trademark; under that is "W.Germany". On the right foot there is a 1 (I think this is a mold mark).

Lois from Md.

Dear Lois:

This figurine is #20002 NORMAL. The figurine is legitimate, but the PLASTIC COLLAR IS NOT. The collar appears to be a piece from, possibly, a PLAYMOBIL figurine!

Dear Suzanne:

I would like to add to my collection Smurfs on Triangle Stands, (SMURFAGRAMS) do you have any idea how many were made?

Dear Mary and All Members;

To the best of our knowledge, W. Berrie produced somewhere between 40 to 50 of these. Schleich produced a completely different line in English, French, German, etc. We have compiled a listing of those made in English for our interested members. Send your request to the Club with a Self Addressed Stamped envelope.

Mary from Va.

Detail Note: The Eyebrows on large version are painted on hat and on smaller version on the face.

COLLECTORS COMMENTS.....

Dear Suzanne:

I wonder if a reoccurring dream that I have from time-to-time is also experienced by other Club Members. In my dream I am at a toy show or flea market and I find Smurfs that I've never seen or heard of before!

Karen S. from N.J.

Dear Karen:

I can not answer for other members, but I do believe in good dreams coming true!!! Let's not be overly enthusiastic about jumping at something we find at those toy shows etc. Read our next letter and B E W A R E!

Dear S.C.C.I.:

I have found some figurines that resemble Smurfs but they have Antennas on their heads. Some are girls and some are boys and they are hand-painted over several different injected colors. All of these figurines have the Bully marking on the feet. Would you have any information about this type figurine? The dealer that was selling them had them labeled as S M U R F S!!

Tiffany C. from IA.

Dear Tiffany and All Members:

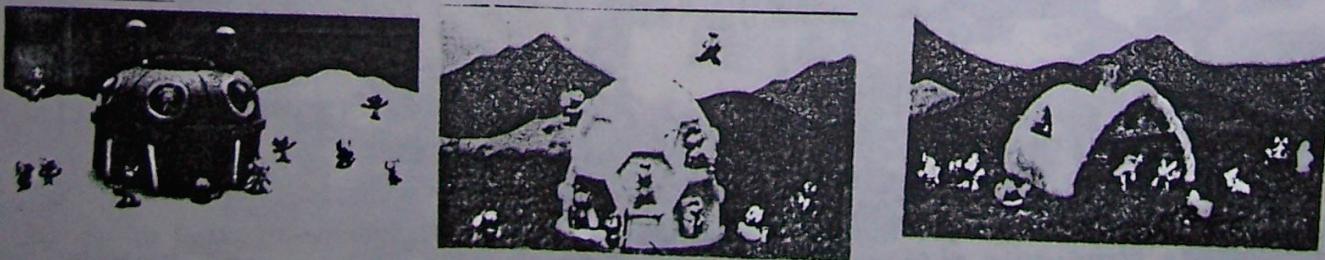

Please be informed that we have received numerous letters of this nature lately so now seems as good a time as ever to address the issue:

The figurines described are manufactured by Bully but they are N O T S M U R F S!!!! In German, they are called "Weltraum-Sniks" meaning Space Sniks. Here in the U.S., they are known as Astrosniks.

They will be found in black with silver, black with gold, all gold, all silver, and some are even green with painted details.

To take this topic one step further, Bully also manufacturers houses to go with this line of figurines. These houses ARE NOT SMURF HOUSES! Please do not be fooled by the Bully name appearing on an item! Bully does manufacture many P.V.C. figurines today, but NO SMURFS!

Below are some photos of the Astrosniks and their cottages.

In Newsletter No. 12 we introduced you to Christmas figurines from Alderbrook, made in Hong Kong, and a bendable figurine, from Schleich, made in West Germany.

FERRERO EASTER PROMOTION, 1990

In Newsletter No. 9, we reported an exciting Easter promotion by Ferrero. It has been two years, but we are happy to report that, once again, Ferrero has a completely N E W Chocolate Easter Egg Promotion for 1990.

This year our European S.C.C.I. Staff located these chocolate Easter eggs in France!!!!

The Ferrero 1990 Easter promotion is, fortunately for enthusiastic collectors, completely different from the 1988 promotion. The easter eggs were beautifully packaged, three to a box. Each box contained O N E Smurf figurine. We consider the box to be a great Smurf collectible in it's own right as it is colorfully and Smurffully decorated (see below).

63.70.40

confiserie recouverte de chocolat au lait
contenant une surprise dans une capsule plastique

The figurines found in each box are also completely different from 1988's. These new figurines have to be assembled. Some of the figurines have as many as 12 pieces and they are really fun to assemble. Nimble fingers and bi-focals are, for some of us, a necessity! When put together, they are larger than the older Ferrero figurines; closer to 2" in size. The finished product, in our opinion, is F A N T A S T I C ! ! !

Each piece of each figurine is injected in color; not painted as those made previously. Many of the figurines have stickers to be attached to give additional detail. All pieces have stickers for eyes.

There are TWO series of figurines for 1990. See below:

Series No. 1
(six Diff. figures)

Series No. 2
(six Diff. figures)

A sticker of the figurine is included in each Easter egg along a tiny cartoon strip. We share one with you below:

We do regret to report that, although we boosted the French economy with our purchase of many of these boxes of Smurf Easter Eggs, we were unable to accumulate two FULL sets. Isn't that always the way? We are missing one from each set. Frustrating!

We are hoping, however, to receive more boxes of these figurines. We've got to get our two full sets!!! If we are successful we will have doubles, I am sure! We will share these with you, our S.C.C.I. Members. If you are interested please send your request, with a Self-Addressed Stamped Envelope, to the Club. Hurry: Supply will be limited.

S.C.C.I. MEMBER MEETS LUCILLE BLISS, THE VOICE OF SMURFETTE

Smurfs™ 1989 Hanna Barbera Productions Inc. and LAFIG S.A.
Snoopy of Space Kiddies™ 1989 Hanna Barbera Productions Inc.

SMURFETTE
from "Smurfs"

My meeting with Lucille Bliss was by accident. Leah, my youngest daughter, had gone shopping at the Eagle Rock Mall, here in California. As she was going through the center of the mall, she saw Smurfette Cels displayed and posters announcing a Smurf Show, so she waited until the show (a skit of the Smurf cartoon) was over, and went to get Lucille's autograph for me. She told Lucille that I was a Smurf collector and Lucille (Smurfette) asked her to have me come to the mall so she could meet me. My other daughter Lori and I went to the mall and what a great time we had. We took our Smurfette & Romeo and Smurfette hard cover books and Lucille was kind enough to autograph them for us, along with a Smurfette poster and cel for each of us. I took a Smurfette glass as a gift for her. She had never seen the glass, so she was very happy to get it to add to her own Smurfette collection.

She wanted to know all about our collections, what we collected (other than the 2" figures) and where we went to find our Smurfy treasures. She has heard about our Club, but did not know where it was located, so I gave her the address before I left.

She asked if she could come to see my collection!!!!

She is such a nice lady, funny and really great with all the little (and Big) children who went to see her. She spent hours signing autographs. She made us feel as if she was just as thrilled to meet us as we were to meet her. We had such a good time talking with her and got several great new additions to our ever growing collections as a bonus.

Shirley M. from Calif.

Dear Shirley;

We are all hoping you have a follow-up to this story when Lucille comes to visit!!!

All your fellow Smurf Collectors

DEAR SMURF FANS:

You probably all heard the bad news!!! I guess the Smurfs didn't fit in with N B C's video game, rap music and music video lineup (UGH.) It is the end of an era!! The worst part is we'll never know if the Smurfs made it back to Smurf Village. Saturday mornings will never be the same !!! Thank goodness for syndication and videos.

Smurfs out — but Kid's in

NBC builds Saturday morning around games, music and live-action

By MICHELE GREPPI

THE Smurfs are out. So are "Kissyfur," "The Karate Kid" and "ALF."

Instead, NBC will build its Saturday morning machine around fast games, hot music, chillin' dudes, live-action and a promotional blitz tie-in with Toys R Us.

At stake is a Saturday morning audience of 36 million kids who have $7 billion in allowances and influence $70 billion worth of parental spending.

NBC once owned that audience and now is second to ABC in ratings and among the key 2- to 11-year-old viewers.

NBC announced yesterday that established personalities will play a stronger role in the season that starts Sept. 8. Rap performers Kid and Play and comic actor Rick Moranis get their own shows to join the returning John Candy in the animated weekly gallery. And "Saturday Videos," a kid-tailored version of NBC's "Friday Night Videos," with specially selected hosts for the young audience.

Characters from the three biggest-selling games ever, the Super Mario Brothers, Zena and Link, will be among the Nintendo characters joining the sophomore Captain N in an expanded hour-long format.

And NBC hopes it can make stars out of a "home-grown," ethnically diverse musical group it has tentatively titled "The Boys

"Next Door." The five teens dance, sing and joke their way through a half-hour "pirate" broadcast from the basement of their California home.

Call 'em the Monkees of the '90s. NBC Entertainment President Brandon Tartikoff yesterday called "Kid 'n' Play" the "Fat Albert" of the '90s and "Saturday Videos" the "American Bandstand" of the '90s.

Tartikoff and Phyllis Tucker Vinson, NBC's vice president of children's and family programming, also think live-action is a key to dominance in the '90s.

Last year, NBC "stuck our big toe in scary waters" with the live-action "Saved by the Bell," and saw it turn into the No. 1 teen show.

The lineup announced yesterday includes an unprecedented amount of live-action programming, from "live" segments between shows and within "Kid 'n' Play" to the entire last two hours of shows, which will conclude with "Inside Stuff: The Entertainment Magazine of the NBA."

The latter will be designed as a "light-hearted" bridge from the kids' block to the network's NBA coverage that begins in October.

Vinson slid in the Toys R Us announcement at the end of yesterday's presentation to advertising representatives and said only that it would involve a major NBC presence in stores, as well as TV and print campaigns.

KID:

With his partner Play, gets his own Saturday a.m. show.

The schedule:

- 8:30 a.m. — "Camp Candy"
- 8:30-9:30 — "Captain N and the Adventures of Super Mario Brothers 3"
- 9:30-10 — "Rick Moranis in Gravedale High," an animated show with Moranis as the inspiration for a nice principal of a school full of difficult kids.
- 10-10:30 — "Kid 'n' Play," from Motown Productions
- 10:30-11 — "Chipmunks Go to The Movies"
- 11-11:30 — "Saved by the Bell"
- 11:30-noon — "The Boys Next Door"
- Noon-12:30 p.m. — "Saturday Videos," which will fill an hour Sept. 8-Oct. 20.
- 12:30-1 p.m. — "Inside Stuff: The Entertainment Magazine of the NBA," premiering Oct. 27.

Now the "true Blue" will be truly "BLUE!"

THIS WEEK'S CHILDREN'S SHOWS

An unprecedented approach to teaching kids about drugs—by Pamela Castellano.

This animated cast delivers a critical message about the dangers of drug abuse in "Cartoon All-Stars to the Rescue."

CARTOON ALL-STARS TO THE RESCUE

Saturday, April 21

Various channels at 10:30 am

In order to help young children recognize and understand the dangers of drug and alcohol abuse, an unparalleled children's entertainment special, "Cartoon All-Stars to the Rescue," will be simulcast by the three major television networks on Saturday at 10:30 am. Hundreds of independent stations and cable networks in the U.S., Canada and Mexico will broadcast the special as well.

Developed by the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences, "Cartoon All-Stars to the Rescue" will deliver a strong anti-substance abuse message in a highly entertaining style, using a cast of many of your kids' favorite animated characters—including ALF, Bugs Bunny, the Chipmunks, Daffy

Duck, Donald Duck's nephews, Garfield, the Muppet Babies, the Smurfs, Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles, Winnie the Pooh, Tigger and others. The special marks the first time a number of animation studios, including Walt Disney, Warner Brothers, Hanna-Barbera and DIC Enterprises, have allowed their copyrighted characters to appear together in a television program; given the gravity of the cause, the use of the characters was provided to the project free of charge.

The program centers around Michael, a 14-year-old drug user. As his nine-year-old sister, Corey, becomes aware of her older brother's increasing experimentation with drugs, she enlists the aid of the cartoon all-stars to help him see the dangers of substance abuse. Using educational methods similar to those Dickens employed to enlighten the hard-hearted Ebenezer Scrooge—dreams—the animated characters give the boy a magical ride into what his future would be like, both with and without a reliance on drugs.

To extend the media impact of the special, 250,000 video cassettes will be distributed free to schools and video stores across the country through a grant from Ronald McDonald Children's Charities (Kodak is donating the tapes). The McDonald's Corporation has also put together a family viewer's guide which provides parents with more information on "Cartoon All-Stars to the Rescue." The guide also dispels many of the common myths of drug and alcohol use, offers warning signs of childhood substance abuse and provides references for further information. The pamphlet is currently available at McDonald's restaurants.

Parents, this half-hour special is the perfect opportunity to open up a dialogue with your five-to-11-year-olds about the dangers of drugs. Use it. A program like this one comes along so rarely it is a must-see for children and parents alike.

• President Bush, demonstrating yet another reason why I voted for him, has heartily endorsed the upcoming Cartoon All-Stars to the Rescue animated anti-drug special, scheduled to air April 21 simultaneously on all three networks and about eight cable nets as well. "Never before in cartoon history have Bugs Bunny and Daffy Duck worked with the Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles, the Muppets, the Smurfs and all the other stars of the cartoon world," he said, praising Executive Producer Roy Disney "for keeping all those egos in line."

Smurfs - the ever-lasting fun characters. They have been around for over 30 years now. Children and collectors alike all over the world are the fans of the blue & white figurines. BIG BANG SCHTROUMPF - the newly opened Smurf theme park in Metz/France adds to the actuality of these funny characters.

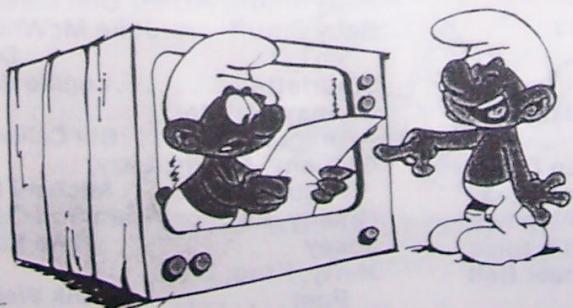

Brandnew is the Smurf magazine with new Smurf stories, Smurf games and with lots of information for children.

TV presence of Smurfs worldwide is further increasing. More than 70 countries air regularly the funny episodes of the Smurfs in their struggle with Gargamel.

Wherever Smurfs appear there is great fun. The Smurfs are now on their way into the Nineties - Just join in!

Classic Smurfs at their best.
